

JD Edwards

Managed Services & Consulting

OVERVIEW

For more than a decade, Spinnaker Support has been one of the most trusted providers of third-party support, CNC managed services, and consulting for JD Edwards enterprise software products. Spinnaker Support has served hundreds of organizations that run JD Edwards. We cover all software versions and have no term limitations on support, regardless of whether Oracle has declared an End of Life to a product.

With Spinnaker Support managed services, we augment or assume complete responsibility for a range of IT operational functions and/or day-to-day technology management. We offer four distinct packages of managed services that cover your ongoing needs related to JD Edwards. Customers trust us to keep their applications running smoothly, securely, and in compliance, and to help them when they want to migrate their applications to the cloud.

TODAY'S CHALLENGING ENVIRONMENT

To keep their JD Edwards applications operating at peak performance, enterprises are seeking more expansive and cost-effective external services and resources. You want services like around-the-clock performance monitoring, and ongoing technical and functional management to ensure the smooth functioning of interoperable systems – all while building a bridge between your legacy and future technologies.

Now imagine that service, support, and advice is available when you need it and how you need it, from a single vendor at a reasonable price. Imagine gaining the staffing and JD Edwards expertise you want without getting locked into expensive, ever-expanding projects.

That's Spinnaker Support.

SPINNAKER SUPPORT'S MANAGED SERVICES FOR JD EDWARDS

Spinnaker Support's managed services encompass virtually every JD Edwards enterprise application and the surrounding technology environment. These services include application management, application development, and infrastructure operations and management. Spinnaker Support can help to augment your staff, fill capability gaps, and improve your overall operability, often with less expense.

We have built and retained a large, knowledgeable team of support engineers to address virtually anything JDE from World to EnterpriseOne to IBM Blue Stack to Cloud. Our JDE resources are located in each of our international operations centers, where they support 14 languages for customers in 104 countries around the globe.
